FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

An opportunity to hear the premier performance of the avant-garde guitar group The League of Locals will present itself on Friday night, November 21st, at the gallery, Tatiana, in Glenelg, Maryland, at the gallery's annual Christmas Season Opening.

This is of note to those with an interest in rock and acoustic music. The League of Locals formed after the players attended Guitar Craft courses given by Robert Fripp at the American Society for Continuous Education, at Claymont Court, Charles Town, West Virginia. The League of Locals strives in its playing to use the techniques taught by Robert Fripp. The instrumentation of the group is solely acoustic guitars.

Along with its own material, the eight member group performs selections from the recently released recording "Robert Fripp and the League of Crafty Guitarists Live!"

The League of Locals is Dick Bannister, Robert Barnes, Joan Bull, Debra Gavalas, Bob Gerber, Robert Jewell, Pat Levitt and Victor McSurely.

The League of Locals will perform from 7:00 until 11:00 p.m. at the gallery, Tatiana, Providence Church, Glenelg, MD 21737.

Admission is free.

For further information, directions-call Tatiana, (Baltimore) 442-1144 (Washington) 854-6289.
